

SOLDIER'S BONUS BILL RECOMMITTED

STORMY SCENES ARE ENACTED JUST BEFORE THE FINAL ROLL CALL

Senator McCumber Invites Senator Reed to Settle a Question of Varacity Outside—Both Parties Divide On Roll Call—This Only Means a Brief Postponement.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—The administration won its battle in congress today when the senate, responding to President Harding's recent request recommitment of the soldiers' bonus bill indefinitely to the finance committee. The vote for recommitment was 47 to 29, and was interpreted by Democrats to mean "the death" of the bill but by Republican leaders to mean postponement for only a few months with no substantial loss to war veteran beneficiaries. Both parties divided on the roll call, nine Republicans voting against, while eight Democrats joined the bulk of Republicans for recommitment. Republican losses on the vote were offset exactly by Democrat accessions, as two more Republicans were paired against recommitment and three more Democrats for the motion.

Stormy clashes between Democrat opponents and Republican advocates of recommitment marked the closing debate. But they were mild as compared to the scenes which followed the roll call. Among the incidents was a challenge by Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, champion of the bill, to Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, to settle a question of varacity "outside," and shouts of "sit down" made to Senator McCumber by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia.

The roll call follows:
For Recommittal
Republicans—Ball, Borah, Brandegee, Calder, Cameron, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Edge, Ernst, Fernald, Frelinghuysen, Gooding, Hale, Kellogg, Kenyon, Keyes, Knox, Lodge, McCormick, McKinley, McNary, Moses, Nelson, New, Nicholson, Norbeck, Oddie, Penrose, Poinsett, Shortridge, Smoot, Stanford, Sterling, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson (Ind.), Weller and Wilson—39.
Democrats—Dial, Glass, King, Myers, Simmons, Swanson, Underwood and Williams—8.
Total for recommitment—47.

Against
Republicans—Bursum, Capper, Elkins, Hareid, Jones (Wash.), Ladd, LaFollette, Norris and Rutland—9.
Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Caraway, Culberson, Fletcher, Gerry, Harris, Hefflin, Hitchcock, Jones, New Mexico; Kendrick, McKellar, Pittman, Robinson, Sheppard, Stanley, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), and Watson (Ga.)—29.
Total against recommitment—29.

Senatorial Dignity Lost
Senatorial dignity and rules were lost in the confusion. A half dozen senators were speaking at once clamoring for recognition by the vice-president. To add to the din, a mid-summer storm broke over the capital, pouring torrents of rain on the glass roof of the senate while lightning flashes vied with its lightning system. Senators could be heard only with difficulty.

The refunding operations, at least as to the principal debtor nations, ought to be completed in a few months, and the bonus bill then proceeded with, Senator McCumber asserted.

"I can say with absolute assurance to the American people and the American soldier," he added, "that this bill will be enacted into law and I am certain that its effective date (July 1, 1922) of payments will not have to be extended. Delay will not deprive veterans of a single right under the bill."

Thereupon, he continued, they insisted that the president come here and make his statements to the country as well as the senate, regarding the treasury situation.

CONFERENCES OF LEADERS STILL SEEM AMIABLE

Lloyd George Met De Vaker and Craig Friday

LONDON, July 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—Two more important conferences were held today in the effort by the prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, and the leaders of Southern and Northern Ireland, to lay the foundation of a meeting of the leaders of the two countries to endeavor to reach a solution of the Irish problem. The first conference was between Mr. Lloyd George and Eamonn DeValera, and Irish Republican leader and the second between Mr. Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster. No official information as to the results attained by the conferences was issued.

Finally it is said by those in close touch with the negotiations there is every prospect that the proposed conference of Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. DeValera and Sir James will materialize early next week.

To Terminate Monday
The two days in the Irish preliminaries which will terminate Monday when the prime minister and Mr. DeValera meet for the third time, promises to be a critical period in the negotiations but in the councils of neither of the three parties concerned is there manifestation of fear that the difficulties of the situation will not be bridged.

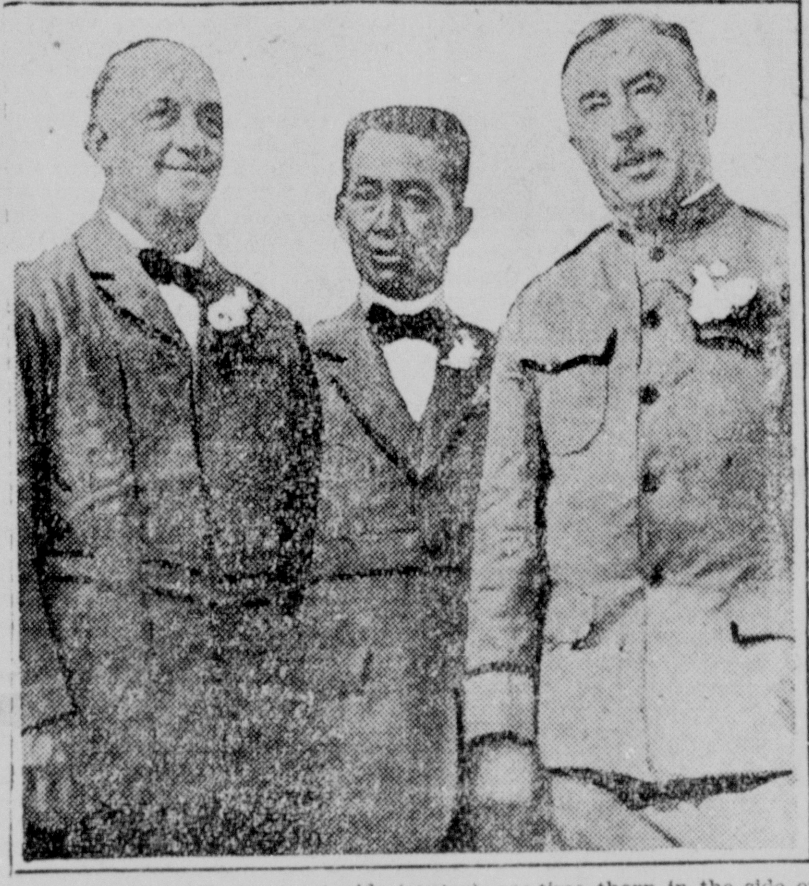

When he Ulster premier left Downing street at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Lloyd George had had four hours of "man-to-man" discussion with Mr. DeValera and two hours and a half with Sir James. There is reason to believe that the termination of these intimate talks there was little of the viewpoints of the three leaders, the handicaps with which they are fettered, and the lines over which they would not or dare not step, which had been made perfectly clear to the others.

Only at the headquarters of Mr. DeValera was there perceptible lessening of the tension tonight. Here a statement was given to The Associated Press by one in a position to get an authoritative view of the situation as seen by the Irish delegate. It reads:

Ground for Conference
The present discussions are designed to find if possible suitable ground for holding a useful conference, one that might legitimately be termed a peace conference.

"So far as the Daily Eireann's representatives are concerned what Sir James Craig says to Premier Lloyd George is of no moment. Mr. DeValera invited representatives of the Irish minorities to conference with him in Dublin. Sir James failed to appear although he previously had talked with the president. The Southern Unionists did appear and expressed their views.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Miss Clara W. Brown Is Speaker Before Club Members at Noon Day Luncheon Friday at Pacific Hotel.

Miss Clara W. Brown made an address before the Rotary club at the noonday luncheon Friday at the Pacific hotel. Miss Brown, who has followed a good many unusual paths in her travels during the past five or six years, gave the club her impressions of the Hawaiian Islands. The speaker spent five months there recently and talked in a most interesting and informing way of the country itself, the people and their characteristics.

Miss Brown credits Hawaiians with being the most hospitable people on earth and says that they carry their generosity to a very unusual degree. In fact, the good citizens of the islands are ready to accommodate and assist other persons at any time to the neglect of their own affairs. They work willingly for others and make gifts, but it does not seem to occur to them that they should be acquiring property or other holdings on their own account for use in the later years of life.

One trouble with the Islands, Miss Brown said, is that everything is controlled by five great companies. They are the owners of the great bulk of the land, the various industries are under their control and in fact all of the resources of Hawaii are handled in the way that best suits the wishes of the men who direct the affairs of these five great companies.

It was quite evident from Miss Brown's description that she thoroughly enjoyed her stay in Hawaii and found it a most interesting place for travel and study.

Among other guests of the day was W. C. Osborne, familiarly known as "Red" Osborne, who is now a member of the firm of Butler Bros., in Chicago and succeeding in this large business undertaking in which he is a part.

Secretary Kopperl called attention to the Tri-County picnic to be held at Waverly, July 28, and was the scene of the club, that the organization should be largely represented on this occasion. The Rotarians were pleased to note a number of betterments in the assembly room which Rotarian Brennan is having made especially for the use of the club.

SANGAMON GRAND JURY RECESSED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Harry Luehrs Assistant State Treasurer Still Before Jury

(By The Associated Press) SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 15.—The Sangamon county grand jury, which, under the guiding hands of Attorney General Brundage and State's Attorney Mortimer, is probing into the affairs of the state treasury in search of evidence which might indicate Governor Small, Lieutenant Governor Sterling and perhaps others, recessed today until next Wednesday morning.

Harry Luehrs, assistant state treasurer, who was before the jury the greater part of the day, has not completed his testimony, it was said tonight. He is expected to continue with evidence shown by treasury records when the investigation is resumed next week.

The situation tonight indicated no ballot on indictment until late next week if then. It was feared that additional witnesses besides those already summoned will be subpoenaed to appear.

The recess today it was said was taken to allow the farmer jury to spend Saturday and early next week on their farms where the threshing season is at its height.

Developments Closely Guarded
Developments of the week were closely guarded by secrecy, although both Attorney General Brundage and State's Attorney Mortimer indicated that they were satisfied with "highly important" evidence which has been presented.

State Auditor Russell is expected to appear before the grand jury next week with his chief clerk, Harry Freeman.

Omar Wright, state director of finance is another witness likely to be heard.

Reports that the investigation is on the wane were denied by those in close touch with the situation. The question most frequently asked in the capital the past week was "will the governor be indicted?"

Replying to criticism that the investigation threatens to wreck the Republican party of Illinois Attorney General Brundage said: "If such conditions existed it is better for the party to purge itself or even start anew."

Although both sides of the legal battle, which is generally agreed grew out of the Small-Brundage political war have outspoken supporters many Republican leaders of the state have kept "hands off" the investigation. Members of house and senate who were in the capital this week for the most part asked many questions but answered few.

BARN NEAR FRANKLIN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Harry Seymour Sustains Heavy Loss When Barn Burns Friday Morning.

Franklin, July 15.—The barn on the farm of Harry Seymour four miles southwest of Franklin was totally destroyed by fire Friday morning. The fire started at about 7:30 o'clock and had gained such headway when discovered that it was impossible to save the building and contents. The origin of the fire is a complete mystery. There was a considerable quantity of feed stored in the barn, in addition to tools, harness and farm machinery.

The barn was one of the largest in this section of the country and was in excellent repair. Mr. Seymour carried only a small amount of insurance.

UNITED STATES SETS FORTH A NEW IDEA OF SCOPE OF DISCUSSIONS

Details of Latest Representations of the Government Believed to be Sufficient to Cause Japan to View the Conference in a New Light—Will Not Dictate.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 15.—Japan's reluctance to take part in an unrestricted discussion of Far Eastern affairs the disarmament conference led the United States to set forth anew today its idea of the probable scope of the proposed negotiations.

Details of the latest American representations to the Tokyo government were not disclosed but they are held by officials here to be sufficiently definite to permit of a comprehensive reconsideration of the whole subject by Japanese statesmen. American officials look forward to the result with entire confidence.

Altho holding to its firm belief that Far Eastern and Pacific problems are linked closely with any effort to reduce armaments, the position of this government is understood to be that the important object, after all, is to get the powers together around a council table where each is willing to speak and act in entire frankness in the interest of good understanding.

ONE HUNDRED CASUALTIES IN LABOR TROUBLES

This was the Toll In West Virginia Coal Fields

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 15.—One hundred casualties resulted during the past year from labor troubles in the Mingo, W. Va., coal fields, F. F. Kenney, president of the miners district union today testified before the senate investigating committee, Mr. Kenney agreed with the representatives of the operators—who placed the casualties in the same period at 27—that the dead were "mostly men on the other side."

"In the words of a law officer, when a real mountaineer of Mingo county shoots twice at a man and doesn't kill him," Kenney explained, "it's because he was not shooting to hit."

At the same time, speaking to S. B. Avis, counsel for the operators, he declared the strikers "have been forced into every battle there by you and your crowd."

R. H. Kirkpatrick, another union witness formerly mine foreman for the Burnwell Coal & Coke company testified that a battle around a mine tunnel had been staged by his superiors and himself, "to get martial law declared and beat the strike."

Staged Sham Battle.
One mine official went up into the woods and shot many times at the tunnel entrance, Kirkpatrick said, while he, with two guns, shot vigorously back and two other men went "to outflank" the supposed assailant.

Kenney and Attorney Avis wrangled thru the course of an hour as the witnesses denied charges that the "United Mine Workers with their battles at the point of a gun," and asserted that the operators brought in gunmen and detectives. The Baldwin-Felts Detective agency was frequently mentioned as the mine guarding and watching agency.

"And Albert Felts, its chief, is dead, isn't he, at the hands of your organization?" Mr. Avis demanded.

The answer brought another recital of the fight at Matewan, W. Va. where ten men died, but Kenney retorted that "it wasn't proven" that a United Mine Worker had killed Felts.

The feeling here is that, once that object has been attained an agreement easily will be reached as to subjects of discussion, provided none of the powers ties its own hands before the conference begins.

Will Not Dictate Subjects.
There is reason to believe that American officials who stand in the capacity of host to the conference, have no idea of dictating in advance just what subjects shall be considered. At the same time there is manifest here a belief when the moment of decision comes, that no nation will care to take on its shoulders the responsibility for refusing to discuss any question which seems vital to the peace of the world.

All of the considerations, the officials here believe will make for full Japanese participation in the conference when the sentiments and intentions of the American government are fully understood in Tokyo. Those in charge of the negotiations are so confident of an agreement that the purpose to proceed with the issuance of formal invitations was reaffirmed after the whole question had been reviewed at today's meeting.

So far as the present plans of the administration go, these invitations will be extended only to the powers originally approached on the subject, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and China. It was indicated today that altho there was no disposition to exclude any nation which might feel itself entitled to a seat, it was felt that if the list were extended it might be difficult to set a limit with the result that the negotiations would become so complicated as to endanger the outcome.

HEARING ON CLAIM ON COATES ESTATE

Miss Dickinson Seeks to Recover $15,000 From Estate on Account of Services.

In the county court yesterday before Judge Samuel a hearing was begun on the claim of Miss Susan Dickinson against the Job Coates estate. Miss Dickinson filed a claim against the estate for $15,000 as compensation for taking care of Mr. Coates during the final three years of his life.

Miss Dickinson is represented by W. W. Wright and the attorneys for the estate are Bellatti, Bellatti & Moriarty. Miss Dickinson maintains that she not only had personal care of Mr. Coates, night and day for a period of years, but that she also kept the house and had a part in the management of the farms. Her testimony is that she was paid a small weekly wage and when she wished to leave the employ of Mr. Coates because of the continuous difficult work that she was induced to stay by the promise of more adequate compensation later on.

The taking of evidence was not concluded when court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning. The jury included the following: James Scott, Charles Hankins, Sherman Fanning, Joseph Bourne, Roy Craig, William McNeal, E. A. Litter, Robert Clayton, James McGraw, John Woods and Robert Clifford.

The Misses Harriet, Mary and Rachel Hall left Thursday for Quincy, where they will spend the week end at the home of George H. Wilson.

PEDESTRIANS PASSED THRU CITY FRIDAY

Two women foot travellers, accompanied by a boy who appeared to be about sixteen years of age, passed thru Jacksonville late Friday afternoon. They had started from New York, June 4, and were headed for Los Angeles. The walkers were dressed in khaki, and carried knapsacks, canteens, blankets. They have been camping along the roadsides, and are paying their way as they go. Hannibal, Mo. was to be their next stopping place.

Mrs. J. R. Kent of Nortonville precinct is a patient at Passavant hospital because of an unfortunate accident. Mrs. Kent was rubbing clothes on a wash board when she ran a large needle into her hand. In attempting to remove it the needle was broken off. The hand was causing so much pain that Mrs. Kent was brought to the hospital by her son-in-law, County Clerk G. L. Ricks, and an X-ray picture was taken and by this means it was possible to remove the needle.

Mrs. Waterman was convicted by a jury in Chicago of having killed her husband with a meat axe, and she was sentenced to the penitentiary for seventeen years. Evidently Mrs. Waterman was not either young nor good-looking.

The St. Louis Globe quite aptly says that something about finances of the country since he is the owner of $500,000,000 himself. It is usually the rule that wealthy men holding public office are advocates of economy rather than of large governmental expenditures. Sometimes those who most urgently advocate the spending of great sums of money are those who do not know its value.

With Lloyd George, De Valera and Sir James Craig in conference seeking to end the long strife between England and Ireland, isn't there reason for believing that there are no differences in the world so great that an effort should not be made to settle them by arbitration.

Who can deny that Henry Ford has business vision, even if he did charter the peace ship and make a world fizzle of that enterprise. Mr. Ford cleared up $85,000,000 of indebtedness during business depression and now he is seeking to lease the government Muscle Shoals property. The vision consists partially in his willingness to lease the property for 100 years, with a fixed interest to meet of about $1,500,000 a year. As Mr. Ford doubtless doesn't expect to live always he is willing for posterity to meet a considerable part of his proposed obligation.

The Chicago Tribune is strong for prize fights and seriously objects to the criticism of the recent Dempsey-Carpentier bout by certain ministers in the east. But the fact remains that the U. S. government does not look with favor upon prize fighting and federal laws prohibit the showing of moving pictures outside the state wherein the fight took place. This means that the films cannot be transported in an inter-state way.

That is practical service that the chamber of commerce purposes to give in establishing an information bureau especially for automobile tourists. The point has been well made that while railroad travel means nothing to the towns through which the travelers pass, it is entirely different with the automobilists. They do not spend money in every city they visit, but they are certain to spend something each day.

With hundreds of tourists going through the business resulting is a matter of real importance. Such courtesies can be extended to these visitors that they will tell other travelers and the results will be helpful to general business conditions. Money spent in encouraging tourists to come this way and in caring for their convenience and comfort after arrival will be like "casting bread upon the waters."

GRAND ARMY RANKS ARE THINNING FAST

Membership Drops Below 100,000 for First Time in 1921—Shows Decrease of Over 10,000 Since 1920.

Indianapolis, Ind.—When the Grand Army of the Republic holds its annual reunion this year, more than 10,000 of the Civil War veterans who attended the encampment of 1920 will be counted among the missing as the ranks have been depleted to this extent thru the last year.

The total membership is scattered among 4445 post in every state. Ohio, with 10,241, has the largest membership, with Pennsylvania second with 9,122; New York, third, 8,795; Illinois, fourth, 8,348; Indiana, fifth, 5,949; Massachusetts, sixth, 5,356. No other states have 5,000 or more members.

Property owned by all posts is valued at $2,075,027, including real estate worth $802,841. The G. A. R. was organized in Illinois in the spring of 1866. Who were its originators is a matter of tradition rather than record, says the report made to the national encampment in 1869 by N. P. Chipman, then adjutant general of the national organization.

One of the Organizers "There can be no doubt that the late Colonel B. F. Stephenson, of Decatur, Illinois, was one of the prime movers," says Chipman's report. "Being recognized as such, he organized the first post at Dekatur, Ill."

By July, 1866, there were 40 posts in Illinois; representative of which met in convention and organized the state department. Stephenson was by common consent the provisional commander-in-chief, and posts were organized in other states, resulting in the first national encampment being held at Indianapolis, Nov. 26, 1866. After the Indianapolis convention, Chipman records that "posts seem to have sprung up as if by magic in all parts of the North," but he adds there was no record of progress. Ten states were represented at the Indianapolis encampment, 21 states in 1869, having 2050 posts.

At the 1869 encampment a mutual life insurance scheme was proposed. It being said then that the G. A. R. had 240,000 members, in 1867 it had been said that the state departments "claim ed to represent a constituency of over 200,000." But there is no authentic record of the number for the early years, the insurance proposal containing an estimate, it is thought, and '67 estimate being regarded as the number of union soldiers living in the jurisdiction of the state departments represented at the convention. For instance the adjutant general's report at the 1870 encampment, when there were 29 departments, says it is "absolutely impossible for me to furnish anything like a correct report of the present membership."

Highest Mark in 1890 In 1890, however, reports taken as authentic state that the membership was 409,489, the highest mark recorded. From 1878 to 1890, the growth was rapid, being from 12,000 to $5,000 annually. Since 1890, the decline has been constant, except for a 3,000 gain in 1906 said to be due to prospects of favorable legislation.

The 1920 national encampment voted to meet every year as long as a single member survived. Brig. Gen. John L. Clem, address Army & Navy club, Washington, D. C., claims himself the youngest G. A. R. member. He is thought by G. A. R. officials here to be 71 years old, having enlisted as a drummer boy at the age of 11 years. The question of who of who is the oldest member always brings up hundreds of claimants and no reliable record has been obtained.

MANY ICEBERGS ARE IN SHIP LANES

Warm Weather of Last Winter Believed to Account for Great Number—One Monster Towered Five Feet Above the Water.

BOSTON, Mass.—(By A. P.)—Icebergs of unusual size and number, one of them estimated to contain enough ice to supply the home of a large part of the country for the rest of the summer, have been encountered by the United States Coast Guard Cutters Seneca and Yamacraw which are patrolling the ocean steamship lanes.

Since early February the United States government, acting under an international agreement and at international expense, has maintained the annual iceberg patrol. The coast guardmen have helped many vessels to steer a safe course through the danger zone. Some have been extricated from serious positions, others have been warned when they were headed for the ice.

The open winter caused a large number of berks to break away early and drift south. They have become an abnormally serious menace to navigation, according to naval officers. Many are of huge dimensions.

The giant of all the icebergs is described by Lieutenant Commander E. H. Smith, navigator of the Seneca, as approximately one third of a mile long and towering 75 feet above the water. This berg remained in sight for nearly a month, during which time it traveled 200 miles. The vagaries of the ice movements are shown by the fact that another berg circled about the vessel, covering 35 miles in three days.

At times the patrol boats have gone alongside the floating refrigerators to obtain cracked ice for the wardroom or huge chunks which could be melted to replenish the fresh water supply.

Of these dangers to navigation have often been proposed the coast guard officers insist the "icebergs" still rule the northern sea. They are awaiting with interest reports of experiments made by the destroyer Breckenridge which shot several bergs with torpedoes. Some of the coast guardmen are frankly skeptical of this plan and insist that a torpedo would make no more impression on an iceberg than a popgun would on a mountain of cotton.

A RIDE SOUTHWESTWARD

A ride to the southwest part of the county brought up to the writer many reminiscences. Just a little way beyond the city limits is the place last owned by the late M. R. Fitch. Long ago it was the property of Charles Dunlap, son of the late Col. James N. Dunlap who built the hotel bearing his name. Charles Dunlap said the day he was twentyone his father gave him twenty thousand dollars and with the farm so beautiful and near the city he should have been well content but he wanted a change so he sold his place to another man, possibly John Potts, who later owned it and moved to Jacksonville and next was the hardware store of Conover and Dunlap in the room now occupied by the bakery just west of the Ayers National Bank building. The store wasn't a good investment. Mr. Dunlap lived in a fine, two story frame house on the spot in the northeast corner of North main and Washington streets, now occupied by the Andrews lumber yard. Most of his money was gone and he later went to St. Louis, served on the police force and died there three years ago.

John Potts and his son William were breeders of fine, Short Horn cattle and for years were known far and wide. Their sales were cried by the famous Col. J. W. Judy of Tallula who charged a hundred dollars a day and cheap at that. Their cattle were of the finest but they held on too long, spent too much money attending fairs and eventually lost their all.

Another occupant of the place, and owner was the late Joseph Yingling, one of the best, most honorable and upright men that ever lived. To it he returned after a strenuous life caring for the interests of the late Mrs. Phebe Strawn, and the writer, a warm personal friend, has often wondered if the cessation from activity didn't have something to do with the gentleman's death, for he was not very old when he passed away.

The sad death of Mr. Fitch left the place without a master. It is beautiful for location and will doubtless be taken by some one who appreciates a pleasant abode. The next house on the left was at one time the home of the late Caleb Letton. He was a lover of fine horses and raised them to some extent and was always strictly honorable in his dealings with them but they proved his financial undoing though he kept his good name.

Another lover of fine horses lived there afterward; the late Elisha Hitt, who knew a horse when he saw it and could tell its good and bad points. He didn't make a specialty of raising fine stock though he handled a good many and for awhile he conducted the livery stable on East Court street where is now O'Donnell's garage.

Tradition says there was once a cemetery on the corner west of the place, on the west side of the road leading down to H. H. Massey's place. If that be true, all traces of it have long since been obliterated, warning not to encourage neighborhood places for burial but to secure a lot in a regular burying ground. Few persons in the county at that time didn't know John Leach, of "Jack", as he was familiarly called. He came from the tight little island at an early day, worked hard, was known for integrity and honor, amassed a good fortune and in time passed away leaving his children well provided for. His farm always showed the hand of a good agriculturist, free from weeds, good fences and all that went to indicate a prosperous tiller of the soil.

A little farther along, well toward the crest of the mound, lived Elder E. G. Rice, preacher in the Christian church, successful farmer and a man known far and near and respected. In addition to rearing a family of ten children and carrying on a farm he found time to preach the gospel many times and always with acceptance though he never made any capital out of it. One day he was buying some goods of a Jacksonville merchant who suggested a discount to ministers, but Mr. Rice said his living came from his farm and he didn't feel entitled to it.

In the olden days ministers had half fare permits on the railroads. When Mr. Rice went to preach he and his wife and when he went on business he left the permit at home and paid regular full rates. On top of the mound was the Kilham family so widely known all over the county, good farmers and men who enjoyed a good living as well and were glad to help their neighbors.

About all the older residents have passed away but there is one sturdy son of England not far from the point, the venerable John Vasey, who is passing the evening of his life in peace and quiet a his home a few rods from the road. He and his excellent wife have made themselves useful in various ways and are now enjoying the reward of faithful attention to business and strict integrity.

That vicinity brings to mind the three Richardsons, Peter, Vincent and William, early settlers, who came here when the county was new, took land that was then cheap and built up comfortable fortunes and enjoyed life as long as they lived.

The writer well remembers the grand occasions when Uncle Vincent celebrated his birthday which was done for several years. What a feast was set before the guests and what merry times were enjoyed. Once Mr. Richardson had a band and fine music was enjoyed all day.

All who ever were entertained at any of these places know what fine things always were on the table. An amusing story is told of a poor Yorkshire way who came over to this country and was fortunate in getting a job with Uncle Vincent. The boy hardly knew what to make of the luxurious table to which he sat daily. He had always been used to the plainest and even most meager fare and his mother was so anxious to know if he had enough to eat and wrote him, asking him if his food was sufficient.

He replied that it was good and ample but didn't dare tell her anything near what they had for him. Several times he put her off in the course of months but finally she demanded to know if they ever had meat on the table, a rare luxury with him in his native land.

What should he do? Meat three times a day! No use to tell her that, so he replied that they had meat three or four times a week, whereupon she replied promptly that she was sorry to see that her son had so soon learned to tell what was not true for it was out of the question to suppose that poor, working people in America had meat so frequently as that.

William Richardson had several daughters and one son, Peter, who lived in the large house now occupied by his son, K. G. Richardson near the Point. Peter had eight children, all rather near together, and they were a lively set. One day Peter brought his wife and little eight to Jacksonville to visit his parents who had moved to town.

It was late when they started home, tired and sleepy and ready to be put to bed but when mama came to undress them there were but seven, one having been overlooked when they started. "Uncle Billy", as he was familiarly called, dearly loved a joke and he never tired of ringing the changes on that performance. It had to be told in the Journal and to his friends many a time.

The homes of these people are all well worthy of the name. Uncle Vincent had several sons. One, Vincent Jr., went to Stafford, Kansas, where he lives yet, as the writer thinks. John built a fine house on the main road and when his wife left him, after a due season he married again, this time, Miss Wilson, with whom he lived most happily till death called him away from earth. Mrs. Richardson still has the place for her home.

George Richardson was hardly as ambitious as John, though his home, just west of the Point, is a model of neatness and good taste. Many years ago he and his good wife lived there honored by all who knew them, and now both have gone to their reward.

The Vincent Richardson homestead has changed hands. Uncle Vincent went before his wife to whom he left the place. After his death the widow married Dr. Mayfield to whose possession the place passed and now that both the doctor and wife are gone it has fallen to other members of the family. For some years two sisters occupied it but one of them was called away and then the other and now the place is occupied only when some of the family come down from Chicago.

A GOOD COLLECTOR In the rally for funds for the McCabe M. E. church Milton Black asks that his report be printed as he was away from town when the others came out. He raised more value but not as much cash as the lady crowned queen though he thinks he did pretty well. He turned in $25.25 in cash, a subscription of $20 worth of tin work from Faught Brothers. He wishes to thank all who helped him along in his work.

At times the patrol boats have gone alongside the floating refrigerators to obtain cracked ice for the wardroom or huge chunks which could be melted to replenish the fresh water supply.

Of these dangers to navigation have often been proposed the coast guard officers insist the "icebergs" still rule the northern sea. They are awaiting with interest reports of experiments made by the destroyer Breckenridge which shot several bergs with torpedoes. Some of the coast guardmen are frankly skeptical of this plan and insist that a torpedo would make no more impression on an iceberg than a popgun would on a mountain of cotton.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO OLD ICE PLANT

Building Formerly Occupied by the Snyder Ice Plant Catches Fire—Loss will Be Several Thousand Dollars.

Fire of unknown origin which started in the rear of the building in North Main street formerly occupied by the Snyder ice plant, about 11:30 o'clock Friday night, caused a loss of several thousand dollars.

Chief Hunt estimated the loss on the building at about $5,000 while J. Cohen and Sons also had a big loss in a quantity of tallow which was stored in the building. H. K. Snyder said last night that he did not know just what caused the fire, but that he thought the loss was fairly well covered. Being unable to get in touch with Mr. Cohen it was impossible to ascertain what he estimated his loss and whether or not he had any insurance on the stored tallow.

The fire started apparently in the northwest corner of the building. The alarm was turned in from Swift and company and the department was soon on the scene and had both engines throwing water on the blaze.

Owing to the start which the flames had and the great heat caused by the burning tallow it looked for a time as though the fire might spread to adjacent property. The building to the south occupied by the E. H. Doolin bottling works was in danger and the roof and cornice got pretty hot at times.

Other Property in Danger With the wind from the southeast large sparks were carried a considerable distance toward the Cohen buildings. The horses of the company were removed from the stables as a precaution but fortunately the wind was not high and no other property caught fire.

The building in which the fire started was formerly the Catholic church and was one of the oldest buildings of the city. It faced on North Sandy street. When Henry Schoenfeld erected the ice plant on North Main street the rear of the new building was joined on to the wall of the old church building. Mr. Schoenfeld built the structure some time about 1889 or 1890.

In 1896 he sold the property to Bartlett and Snyder. Later Mr. Snyder purchased Mr. Bartlett's interest in the plant and operated it until five years ago. At that time he abandoned the building and moved to his new plant across the street.

Occupied by Machine Shop The front part of the building since that time has been occupied by Redems and son with a machine shop. The firemen were able to stop the flames in the old building and only small damage was done to the roof of the more recent structure.

While the fire was at its height Mr. Redems arrived on the scene in an automobile and ran the machine into the burning building and pulled out a tractor. However, this proved not to be necessary as the flames did not do any damage in the interior of the building.

Mr. Snyder did not know last night what he would do about rebuilding. However, he intimated that he probably would not do anything with the building that was destroyed but merely repair the damage done to the building which faces in North Main street.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work everyday, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about it and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments." —STELLA LINXWILLER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Ind.

"Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and 'the blues,' girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

JAPS FEEL KINDLY TOWARD AMERICA

Honolulu, T. H.—That the Japanese people as a whole have only the kindest feeling toward America and that heads of the Buddhist faith in Japan are continually preaching a doctrine of peace, opposed to militarism, violence and strife of all kinds were the statements made by Right Rev. Sukuzen Arai, abbot of Sojiji and chief of the onastary of the Soto sect at Tsurumi, Japan, who arrived here recently at the head of a party of Buddhist priests for a month's stay in the islands. The abbot said:

"Despite misunderstandings that arise from time to time, the Japanese people in general have the kindest feelings towards the American people. They wish only the warmest and most enduring friendship between the United States and Japan."

"Buddhism is commonly misunderstood by Americans, the abbot continued. 'The American people do not seem to know that the Buddhist teachings constantly are exerting a pacifying influence in Japan. Our religion is a religion of peace, opposed to militarism, violence and strife of all kinds.'"

While here the party will dedicate the new Soto sect mission in Honolulu. The monastery of which Abbot Sukuzen Arai is chief is one of the two principal monasteries of the Soto sect in Japan and is said to have been founded in 1310, A. D. The sect, which began its teachings in Hawaii, 16 years ago, now has 5,000 adherents in the islands, the abbot said.

CONDITIONS IN KIEV ARE BAD

Warsaw.—(By A. P.)—Conditions in Kiev, in the Ukraine, are reported worse than at any time since the troubles of Russia began.

Word reached Warsaw recently that the population of the city had dwindled to something like 100,000 persons, whereas at the beginning of the war there were approximately 700,000 inhabitants. Travelers who have crossed the frontier within the last few weeks, most of them under difficult circumstances, assert that the Bolshevik authorities are again in complete control of the city. At intervals during the spring there were times when the Bolsheviks held the upper hand.

In many villages in the Ukraine the peasants are reported to have organized and driven the Soviets out and the peasants are reported endeavoring to strengthen their anti-Bolshevik organization to prevent interference with their farms and villages.

Travelers say only a few stores are open in Kiev—one of these being a florist's shop.

FIELD MUSEUM IS FULL OF INFORMATION

One Can Find Out About Almost Anything in This Vast Store House of Information.

CHICAGO.—(By A. P.)—Would you like to see the Chalmoogra oil which they are curing leprosy in the Hawaiian Islands, or do you need in your business to know something about the rare earths of Ceylon or the crude rubber of Sumatra? The chance is your need may be met without going outside of Illinois.

"The scope of the natural history museum in 1921 is wide enough to include the raw material and products of almost every science and industry in the world," Stanley Field, president of the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago, said here today.

"The Field Museum exists first of all for the people of the city, then for those of the state and of the country. Secondly it also touches that larger public which passes boundaries and extends into the future."

"The accumulation and custodianship of collections of minerals, of plants, of animals, or man, constitute its primary object. It deals with physical objects, both of the commonest and rarest kinds, as well as with the network of facts and relations which constitute science. It is in the possession, care and display of collections that it differs from institutions devoted purely to scientific research. The museum thus thrives as a store house from which to draw material for study and comparison."

"Whether it be meteorites or types of coal, radio-active minerals or rare earths from Austria or Ceylon, types of ancient corn or new good plants, varieties of coffee from Arabia or from the Blue Mountains or from Java or samples of standard grades as established by the New York coffee exchange, New Zealand's wood or flax, crude rubber from Sumatra, Africa or Arizona, chalmoogra oil for leprosy cure, or Burmese jewelry or designs from Alaska or India, the chances are that the museum will have it."

"Perhaps you are interested in cotton and it is a boll-wool cotton-strainer or pink boll-worm from Mexico you wish to see, the chances are the museum can instantly produce the specimen required if it is not on exhibit and on request it will place it at the service of the visitor together with all available information. The practical importance of this to a community or region in which the museum is located may be readily seen to be beyond calculation."

"Whether your interest is in mercantile or manufacturing, or mining or agricultural or artistic or academic the scope of the museum is wide enough to include something of special interest to you today or something you will want to know and see tomorrow. These exhibits are constantly being increased. The task of arrangement is never completed. The labor of reinstallation of collections of such magnitude as those of the Field Museum is a herculean one and much always remains to be done."

JURY COMPLETED TO HEAR BASEBALL CASES

When Final Four Are Sworn In Spectators Cheer—Over 600 Jurors Questioned to Select Twelve Men.

Chicago, July 15.—The jury which will decide the guilt or innocence of the Chicago White Sox players and others indicted on conspiracy charges in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series, was completed today and the actual trial of the men will begin Monday.

The final panel of four jurors was sworn in late today amid cheering and venting of the kind which generally greets a team. More than two weeks had been taken up in selecting the twelve jurors. Approximately 600 persons were questioned by state and defense attorneys and those in court did not hesitate to express their satisfaction when the twelfth man was chosen.

Opening statements Monday. George E. Gorman, assistant state's attorney in charge of the prosecution, will make the opening statement for the state Monday. Prior to his address to the jurors, however, the defense plans to move that the grand jury statements of Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson, indicted White Sox players, be barred from the trial and that no reference to them be permitted in the state's opening statement. The defense contends that the evidence given the grand jury by these men cannot be used even against themselves, although they signed immunity waivers before testifying.

In these statements the three

PLAYERS CONFESSED TO RECEIVING MONEY TO THROW GAMES AND CICTO ADMITTED THAT HE DELIBERATELY HIT RATH, THE FIRST MAN UP IN THE FIRST GAME IN A STATEMENT MADE TO STATE OFFICIALS.

The jury is made up of two clerks, two machinists, a telephone repairman, a stationary engineer, the foreman of a motor company, a steel worker, a salesman, a florist, a hydraulic press operator and the foreman of a stock yards rendering plant. All but two are married and their ages range from 30 to 47.

All said they understood baseball and occasionally saw major league games, but none had ever played semi-pro or pro baseball and none is a student of the game or of the "fan" type.

Daily Market Report

LIFELESS SESSION OF STOCK EXCHANGE

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Stock Exchange today experienced another lifeless session, with significant dealings in only a few prominent issues which showed irregular or lower tendencies.

Fully two-thirds of the trading embraced oils, steel, equipments, shippings and food shares. Rails were unusually stagnant.

Pressure was most apparent against Bethlehem, Crucible, Republic, Gulf States, Vanadium and United States Steels. Harvester, General Electric, Studebaker, Mercantile Marine preferred, United Fruit, American Woolen, Sumatra Tobacco, International Papers and Union Bag and Paper all showed declines of 1 to 5 points.

British exchange rates fell back to recent minimum quotations with reactions of 5 to 25 points in all continental quotations.

Scandinavian rates were mostly adversely affected. The money market was unaffected by heavy withdrawal of federal funds from local banks. All call loans were negotiated on a six per cent basis, with more offerings of time money.

There was little trading in bonds including liberty issues.

DUN'S REPORT TODAY WILL SAY

By Associated Press.

New York, July 15.—

OLEN CAR FOUND
NEAR NEW BERLIN

Belonging to Jenkinson Bros. Co. Recovered Friday Night at Point About a Mile From New Berlin.

A Ford car which was stolen in front of the Opera House yesterday night was found last night at a point about a mile from New Berlin. The car was property of the Jenkinson Bros. Wholesale Co., and was used by Russell Hull, salesman for the company.

John Ross, also a traveling salesman for the company, passed in New Berlin late yesterday afternoon and saw the car near roadside, and recognized it. He came to Jacksonville and found the car had been stolen the previous night. Communication was at once sought with a New Berlin garage and the stolen car was brought back to this city. Mr. Hull left the car in front of the opera house Thursday night while attending the show. When he left the house about 10 p. m. he found the car missing. Police were at once notified and a thorough search was made but without avail. It was at first thought that the car had been taken by joy riders and would probably be left somewhere "not far from the city. There is no clue as to the identity of the thieves.

HIGHWAY FACTS TOLD
MEETING IN C. OF C.
ROOMS

John M. Walshe of Ocean to Ocean Highway Explained Reorganization Work and Its Importance—Local Committees Named—Many Visitors.

The assembly rooms at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters were filled last night with members and visitors from the surrounding territory. Dr. Carl E. Black, forum chairman, presided and the speaker of the evening was John M. Walshe, assistant manager of the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway.

Harold Welch, newly elected secretary of the chamber of commerce, served as secretary. Dr. Black presented Mr. Welch, telling something of the new secretary's successful experience in chamber of commerce work in both Charleston and Mattoon. Mr. Welch spoke briefly of the possibility of organized community effort. T. M. Tomlinson, who has taken a great deal of interest in the highway work, made a statement with reference to the visit of Mr. Walshe in connection with the highway reorganization work.

In the course of his explanation Mr. Walshe told of the Jacksonville allotment of memberships in the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway and the method to be followed in securing the memberships. It was stated that there would be no solicitation for memberships at that meeting, as it is contrary to chamber of commerce regulations to have solicitation of funds at any assemblage in headquarters rooms.

Six Committees Named

T. M. Tomlinson was named as general chairman and six groups of three were appointed to take care of the solicitation work. These men are to meet at the chamber of commerce headquarters this morning at 10 o'clock. As there are but 75 memberships to secure, it is expected that the work can be quickly done.

The committee organization is as follows:

T. M. Tomlinson, general chairman.

Dr. H. C. Chapin, J. K. C. Pierson, E. H. Gray.

The memberships cost $7 for the first year and $5 for the four succeeding years, making a total cost of $27 for the five years. The money thus raised is for the marking of highways and for publicity which will increase the travel.

Mr. Walshe made some explanation of the Townsend bill now pending in congress, and which has for its purpose the improvement of highways through cooperation of the federal government. He explained that a modern highway is not a good road. It is merely a route plainly marked and so thoroughly advertised that travel is directed that way. Naturally road improvements follow the establishment and maintenance of a highway.

The Jefferson Highway

The speaker told a great many facts about the Jefferson highway which runs from the north boundary of the U. S. to the gulf. These facts were given because Mr. Clarkson, who is now the general manager of the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean highway, is the man who perfected the organization of the Jefferson highway, acknowledged to be the best in the country. Some figures were given to show the number of automobiles in the country and further the percentage of car owners who in a year travel 500 miles or more in three or more states. It was shown that 60 per cent of the car owners go on such travels. Then figures were presented to indicate the average expenditures of each tourist and the resulting benefit to the towns and cities through which tourists pass. On the Jefferson highway the records show that in the warm months at least the average number of tourists passing a given point is 1,141.

Incidents were related to tell how important sales of real estate and livestock. —to say nothing of general commodities—had been made along the Jefferson highway simply because automobile travel was directed there and people came to know about the articles purchased.

Money for Publicity

Then Mr. Walshe cited the case of California, where huge sums are spent to encourage travel from the eastern states. Something in the same line was done in Minnesota, where the legislature appropriated a large sum for advertising and for good roads, the records showing the advantages to the communities coming from auto tourist travel.

It was mentioned that the passengers on a train do not leave money in the cities through which they pass but the case is entirely different with the automobile travelers. Mr. Walshe had maps to supplement his statements and the address proved of a very interesting and informing kind.

Following the address came a social time with refreshments. The chairman appointed John W. Merrigan, William Franz and Fred Barr to serve ice cream and cakes. Secretary Welch also had cigars for the visitors.

Some of the Visitors

The delegation from Alexander included P. J. Kaiser, E. J. Kumbie and others, and the following were among those present from Scott county: H. J. Rolf, Benjamin Green, Andrew Funk, Dr. Webster, Dr. O'Reilly, C. T. Bean, J. B. Bean, W. F. Bean, Niles Gish, Edward Frost, George Hogan, Fritz Haskell, John Coe, Carl Woodall, William Redshaw, Gifford Leib, Robert Allan, Roy McKinney, Clayton Wright, Jacob Christison, William Jameson, James Davis, Edward Gillham, George Peck.

A REMARKABLE MAN

When George Coe was up in Grand Rapids, Minnesota, he came across an Indian who claimed to be the oldest man in the United States, asserting that his age was 131. He goes there generally by the name of John Smith though in his native tongue he has the euphonious cognomen of Ka-Beh-Nah-Gwey-Wence.

He is a privileged character and roams about according to his own sweet will not going very far from Grand Rapids. On all railroads he rides free, and people generally are kind to him and give him something to eat if he asks for it. He also has a government pension and sells postal card photographs of himself.

He will go to a hotel in some town and camp down on the floor in a corner and sometimes he carries with him a dog tent under which he rests at night. He is getting somewhat weary with his wandering years but still gets about very well. Everybody in that part of the state know him and accommodates him, as a rule though his wants are simple.

A MINIATURE RAILROAD

In his front window T. M. Tomlinson has a miniature railroad with train and locomotive also of Lilliputian size. Along the track are Arnold, Alexander and New Berlin and by the road is the miniature hard road we are soon to have if all goes well. This is accurately laid out and the subway where it goes under the Wabash near Arnold is also shown. Along by the road is a landscape with water, houses and various features, all quite realistic.

With the reality in prospect it is well to have the anticipation before us so that the completed road will not be too great a shock to us when it is done.
